The Tapestry Poem

A POEM FOR OUR MUCH LOVED UNCLE EDDIE FROM
CAROLYN, JENNIFER, LEE MARGIE & DIANNA

My life is but a weaving
Between my God and me.
I cannot choose the colors
He weaveth steadily.
Oft' times He weaveth sorrow;
And I in foolish pride
Forget He sees the upper
And I the underside.
Not 'til the loom is silent
And the shuttles cease to fly
Will God unroll the canvas
And reveal the reason why.
The dark threads are as needful
In the weaver's skillful hand
As the threads of gold and silver
In the pattern He has planned
He knows, He loves, He cares;
Nothing this truth can dim.
He gives the very best to those
Who leave the choice to Him.

Life Is But A Weaving

A Tribute To Eddy

I was first introduced to Eddy by my dearly departed husband, Mervin in the early 1960's and I don't think we ever shared a disagreement. He was that type of person.

It must have been a truly wonderful day on February 1st 1936, the sunrise of his birth and with the same smiles and joy that he brought to his parents' eyes continued to resonate in his own life as he brought so much joy, laughter and happiness into the lives of others. He was the life of the party, the dancing king, the giver of jokes; everything that a party needed to make people come alive and have fun; He was an Invaders' boy and a great fan of the Toronto Maple Leaf Hockey Club. He possessed a great and wonderful sense of humour.

Yet this was not Eddy's lifestyle. He lived a life that honoured our Lord and in so doing had his priorities straight. He worshipped at Services regularly and was active in the Church's activities and well-liked by the pastor and his wife. He had strong faith and did what the Lord asked of him. "To do justice, and to love kindness and to walk kindly with your God"- Micah 6:8. He lived in an abundant hope that goodness would shine forth in everyone.

One thing for sure that no one could ever doubt was his love for his wife and children. He would do anything for them. He has been the wind beneath the wings of so many. So be at ease, my dear friend and brother, in your forever home. Knowing that you have been a beacon of light in our darkest moments and a ray of sunshine on our cloudy days.

"Share one with Mervin, and I will share one with Lorna."
